

Scripted Or Not

Writing For Non-Fiction Film & TV

Presented by David Vassar & Sally Kaplan of Backcountry Pictures

Saturday, January 30, 2016 • 10 am to 4 pm
Manzanita Arts Emporium in Historic Angels Camp

Join David Vassar and Sally Kaplan for a workshop on the basics of writing for non-fiction television and film. Participants will learn the following skill sets and more:

- Defining different styles of non-fiction film and television
- The importance of story and the written word
- The value of drama and humor and taking the story forward
- The art of the interview
- How to write a log line
- Scripted vs. non scripted formats and the use of papercuts

Cost is $125 for the full day. Credit card registration accepted by phone or online. Reserve your spot by Monday, January 25—space is limited. Refreshments and beverages provided. Continental breakfast served with fruit and rolls, yogurt, bagels and more. Lunch is on your own. There are several lovely eateries within a few steps of the emporium.

(Subject to cancellation due to enrollment, with notification)
